

MANY LOTS FOR HOMES

J. W. Pratt, Commissioner of Public Lands, put his signature of approval yesterday to documents conveying homesteads to twenty-six settlers under various modes of settlement.

George H. Williams, sub-agent of the first district, transmitted the papers to the Commissioner. The largest batch consists of right of purchase leases in the places and to the persons here named:

Upper Maulua lots—M. A. de Oliveira, J. V. Toledo, Rose Vieira, M. V. Toledo, Kaonohiula, John Kaahue—6.

Ophihake—Mary Makaoi—1.

Kaimu—John Annie—1.

Olaa Reservation—Michal Pszyk, P. Markiewicz—2.

Laupahoehoe Homesteads—Malle Ma-lue, Annie Rickard, Maria Simmons, Bella Kahalehu, Mary Akau, David K. Makaoi, Kahawaloa, John Ahaka, Caroline Swain, J. W. Kekoa, William Kaohu, M. Punikala—12.

J. P. Amaral receives a lot in the new Olaa tract on a time payment special agreement.

The following three acquire lots at the places mentioned by cash purchase: A. J. Ignacio, Waipunalet; William Kamaui, Nanawale; J. E. Elderto, Kamaui.

From the names it will be seen that Hawaiians, Portuguese, Russians and Americans, if not others—of course all American citizens now—share the lands allotted as above.

THEY CONTINUED TALKING MACHINE

Much of the talk around machine headquarters Tuesday night was "machine." One of the leaders asserted, even when the old machine was "busted," that the only way to conduct a campaign was to have a machine, and a good one.

There was little attempt on the part of those about the headquarters to deny the existence of a machine. It was significant that most of those responsible for the machine were present. For instance there was Brown, Vida, Sam Johnson, Costa, Murray and a lot of policemen.

BULLETIN'S PUZZLE CORNER.

Delegate Kuhio has vigorously urged anything but straight American politics. But when the men who were originally the most ardent for partition, as against personal politics, started to vote on their best-man theory, it is to be expected that the rank and file of the Hawaiians would vote their ticket according to their natural leanings. It was this vote that defeated Harris, although it was steadfast in its support of Brown.—Bulletin editorial.

The steamer Mikahala brought seven cabin passengers and 77 deck passengers Wednesday from Makaweli.

THE TRUTH ALWAYS.

"When you are in doubt tell the truth." It was an experienced old diplomat who said this to a beginner in the work. It may pass in some things, but not in business. Fraud and deception are often profitable so long as concealed; yet detection is certain sooner or later; then comes the smash-up and the punishment. The best and safest way is to tell the truth all the time. Thus you make friends that stick by you, and a reputation that is always worth twenty shillings to the pound everywhere your goods are offered for sale. We are able modestly to affirm, that it is on this basis that the world-wide popularity of WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION rests. The people have discovered that this medicine is exactly what it is said to be, and that it does what we have always declared it will do. Its nature also has been frankly made known. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. A combination of supreme excellence and medicinal merit. Nothing has been so successful in Anemia, Scrofula, Bronchitis, Influenza, Loss of Flesh and Wasting Diseases, Weakness and Low Nervous Tone, and all complaints caused by Impure Blood. Dr. Austin D. Irvine, of Canada, says: "I have used it in cases where cod liver oil was indicated but could not be taken by the patient, and the results following were very gratifying." It cannot deceive or disappoint you, is effective from the first dose and comes to the rescue of those who have received no benefit from any other treatment. It represents the dawn of progress. Sold by all chemists everywhere.

DEMOCRATS MAY ESTABLISH THEIR OWN NEWSPAPER

"For a party which has risen to the present victorious proportions of the Democratic party in Hawaii," said Attorney E. M. Watson yesterday, "I believe the time has come when the Democracy needs more than two columns of paid editorial space daily in a Republican newspaper."

"I believe the Democrats should have a newspaper of their own."

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

A poor man who could neither read nor write approached a Political Boss to ask a boon.

"Well," asked the Boss, as the man's genuflections finally attracted his attention, "what do you want?"

"I have here," was the reply, "a small peanut-stand, which I crave grace to establish in the sunshine of your protection."

"Oh, very well," replied the Boss, with a kindly wave of the hand. "By the way," he continued, as the poor man started to take his departure after stammering his thanks, "there is one little matter I forgot to mention. I am making a collection of back-bones and should like yours to add to my cabinet."

"Alas, and again alas!" ejaculated the poor man, beating his breast. "Woe is me that I should be compelled to disappoint your Highness, but I have no back-bone."

"You what?"

"I have no back-bone. It was removed when I was but a child."

The Boss burst into happy tears. "Come to my arms!" he cried. "At last I have discovered God's best gift to Bosses—an absolutely spineless candidate!"

BEYOND THE PALE.

A friend of James Whitcomb Riley tells of an occasion when the humorist, who is, as a rule, extremely averse to social functions, was induced to attend a "literary" dinner in Indianapolis given in honor of a novelist of that city.

Riley had been told off to take in to dinner the sister of his host, an excellent woman, though anything but "literary."

The conversation touching upon the beauties of Chaucer, about whom a certain set of the city was then cultivating a fad, a spirited discussion ensued during which the bewildered sister caught from time to time only the name "Chaucer."

At last she whispered to Riley: "Who is this Mr. Chaucer they're talking about so much? Is he very popular in society?"

"Madam," solemnly responded Riley, "that man did something that forever shuts him out of society!"

"Heavens!" exclaimed the worthy dame; "and what was that?"

"He died several hundred years ago," said Riley.

JOURNALISM IN SIAM.

According to the Bangkok Times, the proprietors of a Siamese newspaper have distributed handbills containing the following notice: "The news of English. O crumbs, we tell the latest. Write in perfectly style and most earliest. Do a murder, git commit, we hear of and tell it. Do a mighty chief die, O crumbs, we publish it, and in borders of somber. Staff has each one been colleged and write, O crumbs, like the Kipling and the Dickens. We circle every town and extortionate not for advertisements. Buy it, O crumbs, buy it. Tell each of you its greatness for good. O crumbs. Ready on Friday. Number first."

MORE BEEF TRUST
1 ENIALS ENTERED

Two more answers in the Beef Trust case were filed in the Federal court Wednesday. Like John S. Low's answer reported a few weeks ago, those of Eric Knudsen and H. M. von Holt deny any connection of their authors with a trust.

Mr. Knudsen states that he has never sold beef cattle to the Metropolitan Meat Company, the principal defendant, but that his place of business is on Kauai and that he raises cattle exclusively for consumption on that island. He conducts an independent business and has never tried to monopolize the trade in beef cattle either individually or as a stockholder in any corporation. A denial is entered to the statements that beef cattle can be raised in these islands and sold for six cents a pound or less and that they can be imported from the mainland or elsewhere and sold at such a price.

Mr. von Holt denies that he is a cattle raiser or dealer and that he is a stockholder in the Metropolitan Meat Company. His position is that of superintendent of the ranch department of the Oahu Railway & Land Company, and he declares that neither in this nor his personal capacity has he entered into a trust or combination violative of United States law.

AN EMPRESS' GOWNS.

A more recent example of regal modesty has come under notice in a letter addressed by the Empress Eugenie to one of her family. In it she says:

"They used to accuse me of extravagance! What did my expenses represent as compared to those of any bourgeois of today! During all the time I was Empress I had only three dresses that cost, each of them, as much as $200—one for my marriage, one for the christening of the Prince Imperial!"

The very sorts of gowns worn and the material of which they are made have changed in the last generation. Worth, the great Paris dressmaker, established his reputation through the splendor of the stuffs he made use of during the Empire. Solid and grandiose, these long-gowns at Lyons, were of a substantially inappropriate to the needs of today, for these needs have radically altered.

Mr. von Holt denies that he is a cattle raiser or dealer and that he is a stockholder in the Metropolitan Meat Company. His position is that of superintendent of the ranch department of the Oahu Railway & Land Company, and he declares that neither in this nor his personal capacity has he entered into a trust or combination violative of United States law.

GARDEN ISLE NEWS NOTES

LIHUE, Nov. 5.—Kum Hoon alias Ah

Hoona, a rice planter, was found hanging to a rafter in his house in Lihue on Wednesday of last week. He had been a cripple and his general health falling some time ago, he became dependent and avoided intercourse with his neighbors. The discovery of the undoubted suicide was made by the woman from whom he rented the land. She followed two Japanese whom she suspected of going to the place to steal oranges off the trees, and going up to the house, she peered through the window and was horrified to see the body of Kum Hoon suspended from the roof. Evidently the poor fellow had stood on his bed while he fastened the rope, one end to a rafter and the other about his neck, and then jumped off. The woman had the police notified and they went promptly to the house, when it was found evident that Kum Hoon must have been dead three or four days before his fate was discovered.

FLOATING MISSIVES.
Another interesting proof of the currents of the Pacific was tossed up on the Kaula beach last Thursday. A bottle was picked up by Francisco Freitas, of Hanamaulu, on the beach halfway between the mouth of the Waialua river and Ahukini bay.

On being uncorked it was found to contain a regular form, which stated that it had been thrown overboard by James Swan from the United States army transport Buford at noon, September 6, 1905, at 38 degrees 31 minutes latitude north and 127 degrees 8 minutes longitude west. This location is several hundred miles to the northwest of the place where it was found, and it has taken the bottle nearly fourteen months to get there.

About two weeks ago another bottle was found at nearly the same place by Freitas' neighbor, Jose Camara. It had been thrown from a sailing vessel in the same locality where the latest arrival started its peregrinations—The Garden Island.

GENIAL PAUL ENTERTAINS.
Paul R. Isenberg entertained the members of the Lihue Kegel Club last Thursday, inviting them to join in demolishing a keg of Gambrini brew and a couple of real German schinken. The place was beautifully decorated with flowers and palm branches, also portraits of President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks, Emperor William and Prince Bismarck.

The scoring was fair to middling with a lot of players trying to break their records. None succeeded, however, and Mr. Maser still holds the championship of the club with a score of 235 in the American game.

MIKADO, BANZAI.
The Japanese of Lihue were unlucky last Saturday as to the weather, but even weeping sky and mud fail to discourage the little brown men when their Emperor's birthday comes around. In spite of the frequent showers great crowds were enthusiastic onlookers at the races and wrestling matches, as well as appreciative audiences where patriotic speeches were made. A Third of November uncelebrated is unthinkable, and nobody was therefore surprised to see the rockets rise from Halehaka. The men were orderly and quiet as a rule, and when an exuberance of animal spirits became too apparent in a reveler he was taken home by his friends and put to bed whether he thought it time to retire or not.

HANALEI NOTES.
Miss Molly Cummings, who has been laid up for the last week, is able to be up and teach again.

Mr. Harvey, the Government surveyor, is now at Hanalei and busy surveying the Waiole lands.

Why is it that a certain young man here goes moonlight boating all alone? At last we hear that the Hanalei-Haena road is pau. It is almost too good to be true.

The steamer Ke Au Hou this week landed a bunch of six beautiful looking mules for the Princeville plantation.

The rain has been very heavy in the district during last week, in fact so much so that even the Oregonian talks of leaving.

ITEMS.
Mrs. W. H. Rice, Sr., returned from Honolulu last Wednesday. Her eyes have been troubling her lately and she found it necessary to put herself under the care of an eye specialist. She has been greatly benefited by the treatment.

The benefit of the wireless was aptly illustrated last Monday when a wireless was sent to town in the forenoon for a nurse, with the result that she arrived here within twenty hours. Miss Gerard came up by Tuesday's boat and is looking after Mrs. Sloggett.

Quadruplets arrived in a home over in Kaula last Monday. All the babies were girls and alive, but died the next day.

"The sudden transition from tropical summer to chilly rain a week ago has produced a general attack of cold. Even the horses are suffering from the effect of the change and a number are reported stricken with lumbago," the Garden Island says.

MORNING STAR DEPARTED.
The missionary steamer Morning Star has once more sailed out to brave the elements, leaving at noon yesterday for Seattle, where she will be offered for sale. Captain Mansfield has been subjected to a considerable amount of joshing along the front as to the date of his return from sea, which has drawn from him the remark that there is to be no turning back. The vessel is coaled and provisioned for a thirty days' run.

Peter Davis made an alleged assault on Miha on Sunday last, for which he was arrested yesterday.
